The Capitulation of Perouſe; Sign'd the 11th of Auguſt, 1708.

1. THE Garriſon ſhall be Priſoners of War, and the Rebels ſhall be at our Diſpoſal, as ſhall alſo all Deſerters from the Troops of his Royal Highneſs, and from all his Allies.

2. Nothing of the Equipage of the Officers or of the Soldiers ſhall be touch'd; and the Officers ſhall keep their Arms.

3. Paſsports ſhall be given to thoſe employ'd in the Hoſpitals and for ſupplying Proviſions; provided they be not Rebels; and all the Priſoners ſhall have a Guard ſent with them to Turin.

4. M. de Boyon, Commandant of the Place, ſhall be oblig'd to reſtore whatever may have been taken by himſelf or his Garriſon ſince he had the Command, above the Contributions in Money; and as to the Proviſions they may have taken, what is left in the Garriſon ſhall be accepted for an Equivalent.

5. A Gate ſhall immediately be put into the Poſſeſſion of his Royal Highneſs's Troops; and to Morrow the Garriſon ſhall intirely evacuate the Place.

6. Leave is given to the Commandant to ſend what Officer he thinks fit into France; and that Officer ſhall give a Promiſe under his Hand to repair to Turin.

7. The Commandant and all the Officers, ſhall give their Parole, in Writing.

8. The Garriſon ſhall be allow'd to take Bread for 4 Days.

9. The Garriſon ſhall be furniſh'd with 20 Carriages for their Wounded and Cloaths to Turin.

The whole ſhall be faithfully perform'd on both Sides.

D. Andorn
Boyon.

The Articles of Capitulation of the Fort of Exilles.

1. THE Garriſon demand to march out with Arms and Baggage, and with all Marks of Honour, to be conducted by the ſhorteſt Way to Briançon in 2 Days. Refus'd; The Garriſon muſt yield themſelves Priſoners of War, and ſhall be allow'd their Equipage.

2. Two Cannon, ſuch as we ſhall chuſe, with their Carriages, and Ammunition for 16 Shot for each. Refus'd.

3. The Garriſon ſhall be furniſh'd with neceſſary Carriages for their Equipage and Wounded. Granted.

4. Thoſe who cannot be remov'd, ſhall remain in the Village of Exilles, with one or two Surgeons to take Care of them. Granted.

5. The Effects in the Place not belonging to the King, ſhall be taken away by the Owners; and the Commiſſaries who ſhall be named ſhall not include them in the Inventories. Refus'd.

6. No Perſon ſhall enter the Place, till after its intire Evacuation. Granted; A Guard ſhall be ſent to take Poſt at the Gate, and to prevent all Diſorders and Exceſſes contrary to this Capitulation, after the Garriſon ſhall have laid down their Arms.

7. The Garriſon ſhall not march out of the Place, till 24 Hours after the Capitulation is Sign'd. Refus'd; The Enemy are allow'd to leave in the Fort 50 Men and what Officers they think fit with their Equipage: But the Garriſon ſhall march out to Morrow, after the Guard has taken Poſt at the Gate.

8. All Perſons who are not in the King's Pay, ſhall have Paſsports given them, to retire into the Kingdom whither they pleaſe. Granted.

9. The Officers ſhall have Paſsports for ſending their Equipage into France; and thoſe who have no Equipage ſhall have Liberty to ſend for what they think neceſſary to be brought to them. Granted.

The Officers ſhall be permitted, (it being their Requeſt,) as a particular Favour, to march out with their Swords. Our Commiſſaries ſhall bona fide conſign and deliver into the Hands of the Enemy, an Inventory of the Stores of all Sorts of Ammunition and Proviſions, and of all Effects belonging to the King.

Sign'd La Boullai.

London, September 1.

Yeſterday arriv'd from Holland the Mail of Tueſday the 24th paſt.

From the Paris Gazette, dated Sept. 1.

From the Camp at Agramunt, Aug. 1. The 8th Inſtant the Duke of Orleans detach'd Don Joſeph Carillo to cut the Dams which the Peaſants had made, to turn the Water of the River Sio into their Grounds; which he executed, and now the Troops have plenty of Water. He met a Troop of the Enemy's Horſe, whom he repuls'd; but they being ſupported by others, he retir'd, and was purſu'd till he met M. de Vignau and Don Juan de Zerezeda, who were out with a Party of 10 Troops of Horſe. Then the Enemy retir'd, with ſuch Expedition, that our Men could only take 4 led-Horſes and 2 Priſoners, who reported that their Army was advanc'd to Cervera within 3 Leagues of our Camp, with Deſign to Fight. This Report was confirm'd the 9th by 6 Deſerters: Whereupon the following Night his Royal Highneſs ſent out Parties to get Intelligence of their Motions, and caus'd Powder and Ball to be diſtributed to the Soldiers. The ſame Day the Artillery arriv'd from Lerida. The 10th in the Morning the Duke caus'd the Generale to be beat, and mounted on Horſeback to view the Ground hereabouts that might be moſt proper for an Engagement: But hearing nothing of the Enemy, he ſent the Horſe to Forrage. At Night the Regiment of Horſe of Courtebonne arriv'd from Balaguer, and is follow'd by the Regiment of Dragoons of Bouville and 3 Squadrons of Spaniards. To Day we learn by a Peaſant and 3 Deſerters that the Enemy are Intrenching themſelves, and have poſted 6 Battallions on a Hill on this ſide a Defile, to cover their Camp. Our Army is in a very commodious Camp here.

From the Amſterdam Courant, dated Sept. 4.

Bergzaberen, Aug. 24. This Diſtrict has ſuffer'd very much from the Elector of Bavaria's Troops Quarter'd in our Neighbourhood: Yeſterday they Plunder'd Ilweſheym belonging to the King of Sweden, ſhot or carry'd off above 400 Head of Cattle, kill'd one of the chief Inhabitants, wounded others dangerouſly; ſtav'd above 50 Casks of Wine; and did other Damage. The little Town of Auweyler being thought to be in Danger of the like Inſult, 2 Companies are ſent thither from Deux-ponts, for its better Security.

Neuremberg, Aug. 28. Some Letters from Vienna adviſe, that Neitra has ſurrender'd to General Heiſter.

From the Amſt. Gaz. and Cour. dated Sept. 4.

From the Camp before Liſle, Aug. 30. The Night between the 27th and 28th the Trenches were mounted by the Imperialiſts: At the Attack on the Left, M. du Mee Director of the Approaches, drew a ſecond Parallel, from the Deule to beyond the Chappel of Magdalen; which is about 150 Paces from the Saillant Angle of the Counterſcarp, and in ſome Parts not above 80 or 90 Paces from the Palliſades. At the Attack on the Right, directed by M. des Roques, a Branch of about 100 Paces was run out towards the Mill near the Gate of St. Andrew poſſeſs'd by the Enemy. Our Batteries did great Execution, the Breaches being made directly in Front. The Night between the 28th and 29th the Trenches were agen reliev'd by the Imperialiſts. 6 Battallions were plac'd at the Attack on the Left, and 4 at that on the Right. About 3 a Clock in the the Morning the fortified Mill on our Right near the Gate of St. Andrew, (becauſe it hinder'd the carrying on our Parallel on that ſide) was attack'd by 300 Grenadiers, who carry'd it at the firſt Aſſault; it was defended by a Captain with 40 Men; a Lieutenant and 12 or 15 Grenadiers were taken Priſoners, the reſt were kill'd, wounded, or got off. But our Men could not cover themſelves in that Poſt; for the Moonlight expos'd them to the Enemy, who fir'd ſo thick at them from the Ramparts, that they were oblig'd to retire: And the Enemy ſent Men from the Cover'd Way to repoſſeſs it: But the following Night they ſet fire to the Mill and abandon'd it, thereby avoiding another Aſſault which our Grenadiers were going to make. M. des Roques has now the Ground clear before him to advance to the Foot of the Glacis, and make ready for the giving an Aſſault to the Cover'd Way. We loſt the Night between the 28th and 29th in the Action at the Mill, a Major, a Lieutenant of the Palatines, and a Lieutenant of the Friſe-Guards, and had a Lieutenant-Collonel and ſome Soldiers wounded: And our whole Loſs that Night was about 80 Soldiers kill'd or wounded, beſides Officers. The Night between the 29th and 30th the Trenches were mounted by the Prince of Holſtein-Beek, Major-General Soutelande, and the Brigadiers Keppel and Boſſet, with the Battallions of Godfey, Ingoldsby, Prince-Royal, Denhoff, Seckendorf, Daniſh Guards, Orange, Belling, Swarts, and May. During the Night were employ'd 2400 Pioneers, who this Morning were reliev'd by 1700 others. The Breaches are already low and large enough, being 150 Paces wide; and all we have to do now, is to ruine with Cannon the Outworks that command the Breaches that our Men may not be gall'd in Flank when they Storm; and to carry on our Approaches a little forwarder, to make an Aſſault on the Counterſcarp; which may be done within 3 Days at furtheſt. Deſerters from the Place report, that the Enemy reckon upon being reliev'd; that the Marſhal de Boufflers is determin'd to make a vigorous Defence; that he has already caus'd Intrenchments to be made behind the Breaches; and that to encourage his Men, he tells them he has Means in reſerve, that never were heard of before, to do the Beſiegers great Damage: They ſay further the Marſhal reckons, that ſhould he loſe half his Garriſon in the defence of the Town, the other half will be ſufficient for the defence of the Citadel. Prince Eugene's Adjutant, Count Zobor, was ſo much affected with taking up the poyſon'd Letter (formerly mention'd) after his Highneſs had thrown it down that he could not recover before a Counter-poyſon was adminiſter'd to him.

From the Paris Gazette, dated Sept. 1.

Paris, Sept. 1. They write from Bologne the 23d paſt, that the Enemy's Fleet appear'd the 13th about Ambleteuſe. The Alarm was given, and preſently the Nobility and the Militia of the Country, Horſe and Foot, drew together from the Neighbouring Places and form'd themſelves in Order on the Coaſt. The 14th 60 Shallops with Soldiers in them approach'd the Shore; but obſerving our Men were diſpos'd to receive them, they retir'd; and the 17th the Fleet ſtood towards Eſtaple. The Troops follow'd them, being augmented by Peaſants from the Diſtant Villages, to 4 or 5000 Men. In the mean time the Enemy landed 3 or 400 Men; who after they had ſtaid an Hour on the Downs, without venturing to advance, reimbark'd. The 24th of laſt Month died in this City the Abbot le Fevre, formerly Sub-Preceptor to the Princes of the Blood, in the 65th Year of his Age. M. Louis de Pontevez Marquis de Buons, the King's Lieutenant in Provence, and Governor of Arl, died the 17th of laſt Month at Apt, in the 77th Year of his Age.

From the Camp at Peronne, Sept. 3. The 30th paſt Intelligence being brought that the Enemy were come between Antoin and Tournay, the Duke of Marlborough caus'd us to march from Helchin to Templeuve, and thence hither the next Day. Our Right is at Autreulles, our Left at Auſtain, and our Head Quarter here on the Plains of Liſle. The Duke of Marlborough din'd the 31ſt with Prince Eugene in his Camp before Liſle; And in the Evening return'd to his Quarters. Yeſterday Prince Eugene came to our Camp, rode with his Grace to view the Ground about Phalempin, and to mark out a Line for our Army to form into Battle if the Enemy ſhould attempt the Relief of the Place, which they threaten hard and which we do not fear. The ſame Day my Lord Duke entertain'd at Dinner, beſides Prince Eugene, King Auguſtus, the Landgrave of Heſſe, the Field Deputies of the States, the Hereditary Prince of Heſſe, and ſeveral other General Officers: And in the Evening all theſe eminent Perſons went back to the Camp before Liſle. Laſt Night my Lord Duke had Information, that the Enemy's whole Army paſs'd the Schelde Yeſterday Morning at Tournay, and encamp'd with their Left at Willemeau, and their Right at Blandain. This Morning we took one of the Enemy's Spies, who confeſs'd he was ſent by the Duke of Burgundy to try to get into the Place, and to acquaint the Marſhal de Boufflers that he may depend on being ſuccour'd. To Day the Enemy continued their March towards Orchies and the Head of the Marque; above which they muſt come, if they would attempt to raiſe the Siege.

Hague, Sept. 4. The Story of the poyſon'd Letter ſent to Prince Eugene in his Camp before Liſle, is fully confirm'd by repeated Advices, tho' variouſly related. The Queen of Portugal intends to imbark to Morrow for England. The Muſcovite Ambaſſador and his Lady are arriv'd here from England. 'Tis not doubted that General Fagel with his Body of 8 or 9000 Men, has joyn'd the Duke of Marlborough.
